Jordi Lafon, art from objects

The El Quadern Robat gallery exhibits the work of the Barcelona artist, which deals with the relationship between people and the physical forms that surround them

Jordi Lafon's art is deeply objectual, it cannot be understood unless it is based on the observer's relationship with a physical object. So, the participation that he asks for as an artist is not based on observation, as in the case of painting or video art, but on how we react to the presence of an object in the space where we find ourselves. But what interests him about objects is not their shape, but their surface, and as a second artistic technique applied to the object – drawing, painting, collage, etc. – he creates a second level of reading. If you are interested in this type of work and artistic developments, now you can get to know the work of Jordi Lafon up close, as his works produced in the last ten years are exhibited at the El Quadern Robat gallery, until September 30.

Lafon's creations also have a protest level, and whenever possible he includes a social, cultural or political commentary in his pieces. In fact, the title of the exhibition he is currently presenting, Aquí no passa res, (Nothing happens here), is intended to express exactly the opposite idea: things do happen here, there is an interesting level of interpretation that is worth seeking out.

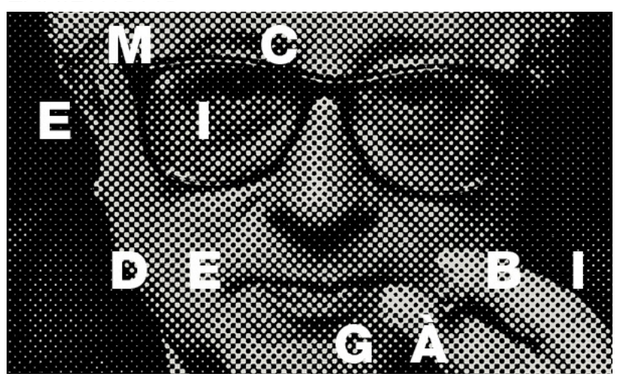

You will find more information on the official channels of the El Quadern Robat gallery. Access to the exhibition is free.
